DETAILED ACTION

1. This in response to an amendment filed on 08/10/10. Claims 15-18 have been added. Claims 1, 3-8, 10-12 and 14 have been amended. Claims 1, 3-8, 10-12, 14-18 are pending and have been examined.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC §112, Second Paragraph

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. §112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1, 3-8, 10-11 and 115-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. §112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which Applicant regards as the invention.
4. In particular, independent claim 1 is an apparatus claim, which appears to describe a computing device and or a combination of devices. However, the claim recites a number of "units" that are not fully described in the specification. For example, the claim an information terminal that comprises of a proxy-settlement request transmission. It's not clear whether this particular unit is hardware or software. The basic hardware components of a computer are described on pages 20-21 of the book "How Computers Work", White 1999. It is not clear whether the recited units in claim 1 are a variations of basic computer component.

5. According to MPEP 2111.01, section IV, an applicant is entitled to be his or her own lexicographer and may rebut the presumption that claim terms are to be given their ordinary and customary meaning by clearly setting forth a definition of the term that is different from its ordinary and customary meaning(s). See In re Paulsen, 30 F.3d 1475, 1480, 31 USPQ2d 1671, 1674 (Fed. Cir. 1994) (inventor may define specific terms used to describe invention, but must do so "with reasonable clarity, deliberateness, and precision" and, if done, must "'set out his uncommon definition in some manner within the patent disclosure' so as to give one of ordinary skill in the art notice of the change" in meaning) (quoting Intellicall, Inc. v. Phonometrics, Inc., 952 F.2d 1384, 1387-88, 21 USPQ2d 1383, 1386 (Fed. Cir. 1992)). Where an explicit definition is provided by the applicant for a term, that definition will control interpretation of the term as it is used in the claim. Toro Co. v. White Consolidated Industries Inc., 199 F.3d 1295, 1301, 53 USPQ2d 1065, 1069 (Fed. Cir. 1999) (meaning of words used in a claim is not construed in a "lexicographic vacuum, but in the context of the specification and drawings"). Any special meaning assigned to a term "must be sufficiently clear in the specification that any departure from common usage would be so understood by a person of experience in the field of the invention." Multiform Desiccants Inc. v. Medzam Ltd., 133 F.3d 1473, 1477, 45 USPQ2d 1429, 1432 (Fed. Cir. 1998). See also Process Control Corp. v. HydReclaim Corp., 190 F.3d 1350, 1357, 52 USPQ2d 1029, 1033 (Fed. Cir. 1999) and MPEP § 2173.05(a).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 1, 3-8, 10-12, 14-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hori et al. (U.S. 20030105835) (“Hori”), in view of Chakravorty et al. (U.S. 7139372) (“Chakravorty”).
8. For examination purposes the PTO interprets the word “operable to” in an apparatus claim as functional language, as it defines what the host system does, rather than what it is. The PTO has evaluated and considered the functional language for what it fairly conveys to a person of ordinary skill in the art. However, for an apparatus claim, patentable weight is given to the actual structure. Applicant can restructure the claim language to include for example: server apparatus with computer-readable storage medium with executable program stored thereon, wherein the program instructs a microprocessor to...
9. Content usage information is being interpreted synonymously with content licensing
10. As per claims 1, 3-8, 10-12, 14-18, Hori discloses an invention that has proper hardware configuration, Fig. 2, to do the following:

- a) "Receiving content usage info from server., (mobile phone receiving license information from server, par. 39)";
- b) "Outputting content usage information to usage apparatus (downloading content info in terminal, par 39)";
- c) Hori did not explicitly describe an invention in which payment is transmitted to a settlement apparatus (or payment intermediary). However, Chakravorty describes an invention that relates to distribution of digital content over mobile devices. According to Chakravorty, payment is sent from user to a download server, C9, L49-59.
- d) Therefore, it would have been obvious for a person of ordinary skill in the art to combine the teachings of Hori with that of Chakravorty to arrive at the claimed invention. The motivation, according to Chakravorty, is to ensure licensing is done to prevent the downloaded content from being illegally forwarded by one mobile user to another mobile user.

Response to Arguments

11. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 3-8, 10-12, 14-18 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection, necessitated by applicant's amendment.

Conclusion

12. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Any new ground(s) of rejection is due to the applicant's amendment. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

13. A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
14. In determining patentability of an invention over the prior art, the USPTO has considered all claimed limitations, and interpreted as broadly as their terms reasonably allow. Additionally, all words in the claims have been considered in judging the patentability of the claims against the prior art.
15. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to EVENS J. AUGUSTIN whose telephone number is 571-272-6860. The examiner can normally be reached on 10am - 6pm M-F.
16. If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Andrew Fischer can be reached on (571)272-6779.
